Forecast For Northeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Sunday 06 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Patchy morning rain then chance of showers. Warm by afternoon.

Today:
Variable cloud, but generally dry with some sunny spells through the morning, once any early rain has died out. A few afternoon showers breaking out, the odd one heavy, perhaps turning thundery later in the day. Light winds. Maximum temperature 20 deg C (68 deg F).

Tonight:
Evening showers dying out then a dry night with clear spells developing, although remaining mostly cloudy with some mist and fog affecting the Pennines. Minimum temperature 9 deg C (48 deg F).

Monday:
Early mist and fog over the Pennines clearing then sunny spells for most parts with a few showers for the afternoon, some heavy with a risk of thunder. Maximum temperature 21 deg C (70 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Tuesday fine with some sunshine. Wednesday and Thursday cloudier with some rain and showers likely, especially across more western areas. Feeling more humid.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.